EXCURSIONS

2359a.111

Issued by the Sub-Committee on Excursions and Transportation, of the Committee of Arrangements appointed by the Congregational Club for the Entertainment of the Second International Congregational Council, Boston, 20-28 September, 1899

Rev. Edward G. Porter,
Dec. 29, 1899.

FOREWORD.

The Excursion Committee has arranged two excursions — to Salem, Saturday, 23 September, and to Plymouth, Friday, 29 September — in which it is hoped all the delegates and many of their friends will participate.

In planning for a number of minor trips in the city and its vicinity at times when the Council is in session, the Committee wishes to state that the time occupied by such excursions will be only a part of a forenoon or afternoon, and the number of persons will be limited to about twenty in each case.

Our Council guests, especially those from a distance, are to give us very little time aside from the Council days, and we feel that an opportunity should be afforded for an occasional glimpse of our interesting city and its beautiful suburbs; moreover and happily, many of the visiting delegates are accompanied by their wives, and these ladies can certainly enjoy an occasional outing even though they lose a part of a session which an official delegate might not feel at liberty to omit. There will also be many guests other than delegates in the city, and most of the excursions planned are available for them as well as for delegates.

∴ All excursions are FREE to official delegates of the Council, and the wives of the delegates from a distance.

∴ Others in attendance on the Council may purchase tickets at the special rates indicated in connection with each Excursion, except for excursions "F" and "G."

∴ Excursion "E," the Parks, is primarily for the benefit of the British and other foreign delegates. Places will be reserved for them until 12 M. for the morning excursion of the following day, and 8 P.M. for the afternoon excursion of the following day.

∴ A special ticket must be procured for each excursion, and delegates' tickets are strictly non-transferable. These tickets should be procured by noon of the day preceding the excursion for which they are issued. The Committee cannot guarantee accommodation otherwise, although vacancies in any party, if they exist, will be filled up to 8 P.M. for the excursion of the following morning; and 12 M. of the same day for an afternoon excursion. Apply as early as possible for tickets for the Salem and Plymouth trips.

∴ All tickets will be issued by the clerk of the Excursion Committee, Social Room. Hours 8.30 A.M. to 8 P.M.

∴ Tickets which cannot be used should be returned promptly. Tickets are only good for the excursion and day for which they are issued. Of course, delegates will go but once on any one trip.

∴ The time of departure given for each excursion is absolute. The start will be made on the minute. Please anticipate the scheduled time of starting by at least five minutes. Delegates should wear their delegates' badges when participating in these excursions. It is a convenient method of identification, and in many cases will insure special courtesies.

∴ This schedule will be followed as closely as circumstances will permit, but changes may be necessary. The "Bulletin for the Day" will be posted at the desks of the Excursion Committee, in Social Room, Tremont Temple, every morning at 8.30. Consult this Bulletin.

The park covers an area of 155 acres, has about two miles of driveways and four miles of walks. The great variety of trees cultivated here are so planted and cared for as to assure the most favorable development through all stages of their growth, thus facilitating the study of their characteristics, while the most beautiful features of the natural forest, within the inclosure, have been preserved.
